Parker

Hydraulic hoses are used in all hydraulic systems to transmit and hold hydraulic fluids like oils, solvents, grease etc. under low to extremely high pressure.

Hydraulic hoses, along with the other systems on your equipment, need to be checked on a regular basis for abrasion, wear and tear and site damage as a hydraulic hose failure on any piece of equipment can bring it to a standstill in seconds.

Polyhose[®]

A quick visual inspection of the high pressure hoses on your equipment before it is dispatched to job site or before it is rented out can save you money and time further down the line.
